Interment was made in Odd Fellows cemetery at Rockdale by the side of her late husband, John Aschenbeck, who was a Confederate soldier, and died a number of years ago.

Deceased was born July 8, 1850 and had lived a greater portion of her life in Milam county. She is well known by a large circle of friends and will be missed by her relatives and friends.

Green Brothers had charge of the funeral arrangements.

VETS PLAN SUMPTUOUS FEED FRIDAY NIGHT

Believing that inter-post activities are important to the Legion, Edwin Hardy Post No. 9 has invited Post Officers from 25 Posts in Central Texas to the oyster feed Friday night.

"We want these buddies to come and enjoy with us the wonderful progress that this post has made," said Guy T. Newton, Commander.

Scrambled into one big feed for the hungry vet, whether he be a Doughboy, Gob or Leather Neck, will be twenty gallons of choice oysters, thirty dozen eggs, five gallons of pickles, five gallons of catsup, fifty pounds of crackers and enough coffee to float the Battle Ship Texas.

Not all the time can be consumed in eating and listening to long winded speeches. A good program of music, games and other forms of entertainment will await veterans.

DAIRY CATTLE DIE

Eight head of dairy cattle belonging to Joe Thompson were killed last week after they had eaten arsenic accidentally mixed with cotton seed.

LEGION MEMBERSHIP DRIVE CLOSING FRIDAY

From a review of the drives for members since the World War is shown how Edwin Hardy Post No. 9 has gradually increased its membership from a small post of about 25 members until today it is one of the largest posts in the Department of Texas with a 1933 membership of 265.

This continued increase has not been due to the activity of the so-called membership getters in the Post, but to the activity of the post, as directed by constructive and competent officials from year to year.

The officers from year to year have observed the fundamental principle upon which the Legion was founded "Service to the Disabled Veterans and His Dependents," and service to Community, State and Nation.

The 1933 membership drive will close Friday night.

C. Tucker on a note for $1,000.00 and for foreclosure of pledge lien in favor of the State National Bank of Garland against the defendants Tucker and Burlington State Bank. The plaintiff Burlington State Bank excepted to the judgment of the court and gave notice of appeal to the court of civil appeals for the 3rd supreme judicial district at Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Culpepper accompanied by Misses Winnie Henderson and Minnie Bartholomew spent the week end in Dallas.

Slayer of Andy Smith Tells Story Of Crime December 21, Following Arrest In City on Sunday Morning

A confession of guilt revealing in ghastly detail how he killed Andy Smith, Cameron grocer, on the night of December 21, 1932, because he wanted a jar of silver coins on the shelf of the store, was made by Clarence Booker, 24 year old Cameron negro, who is now being held in a Texas jail awaiting action of a Milam County grand jury.

The black was arrested at 7:45 Sunday morning, February 3, 1933 by Deputy Sheriff Will Vaughn and City Marshal Luther Roberts, on information obtained by Sheriff Leonard Blaylock, who had tracked down the murderer after weeks of man hunting. The arrest was carefully planned. Sheriff Blaylock dispatched his trusted Deputy to arrest Booker while he took into custody witnesses whose testimony clinched the guilt of the negro.

Booker was spirited away by Vaughn and Roberts, having at first locked in the McLennan County jail where a complete and detailed confession was made after 9 hours of questioning by the officers. The whereabouts of Booker now is known only to Sheriff Blaylock and assistants. Although no indications were apparent on the surface, it was certain that resentment was smoldering in the community and every precaution was taken to avoid complications.

The negro will be returned at the proper time to face indictment by the Grand Jury and to be tried by the court.

Booker had revealed to another Cameron negro about his own age, his guilt of murder. The friend became so frightened he told his parents because he feared he would be killed by Booker for possessing the secret of the crime. Sheriff Blaylock got the information through a source he would not reveal and then followed the events in quick succession that led to the capture of Booker. Witnesses who supplied evidence to substantiate the charge against Booker will not be revealed at this time, the Sheriff said. When told of the testimony given by his friend to whom (See CONFESSES on page 4)

Blaylock Always Gets His Man

Sheriff Leonard Blaylock, red headed Texan and veteran officer, always gets his man, like the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

Investigation of the murder of Andy Smith led the Milam county sheriff and his deputies over many trails. Thousands of clues were followed up. The case had its percentage of cranks who offered suggestions and then serious minded citizens offered help, all of which Blaylock accepted for the value of it and went on with his hunt.

Grand Jury Will Not Be Convened

There will be no special session of the Grand Jury to consider the murder charges filed against Clarence Booker, negro, who has confessed to the killing of Andy Smith, Cameron grocer on the night of Wednesday, December 21, 1932, it was said at the court house Thursday. The Grand Jury for the

Revisits Store Where Man Was Slain

Secure in belief that he had successfully covered up all clues to his identity as the murderer of Andy Smith, the 24 year old negro, Clarence Booker, had returned to the Smith Grocery and made purchases, following the murder.

At first he did not return to the store, but after a lapse of days he went back and made some small purchases at different times. The store, following Mr. Smith's murder, was sold and since has been operated.

On the night of the murder he had gone to the store with a hand axe in his right overcoat pocket with the handle carefully concealed by his

Was Almost A Perfect Crime

Burial of the murder axe and keeping his own tongue were the two things lacking to make the murder of Andy Smith a perfect crime, according to Sheriff Blaylock. Although crime records reveal but few perfect crimes, the murder here on the night of December 21, 1932 almost succeeded to that state of unsolved murder mysteries.

Veteran officers say a criminal always leaves a clue. Booker left his axe and forgot to keep his tongue, having told a friend that he committed the murder. Both were fatal. He had taken the axe from his father's home some days before the murder. It was thrown about carelessly at a negro pool hall and had (See CRIME on last page)

ALDERMAN CANDIDATE WOULD OWN UTILITIES

Fred J. Jackson is a candidate for Alderman in the City Government, subject to action of the Primary Election to be held on Tuesday, February 14, 1933.

Mr. Jackson becomes a candidate for this place of service in the government both of his desire to serve and to put into effect certain principles of economy and service he believes will be of great advantage to the people and tax payers. His candidacy has been urged by a large number of friends and will be received by the people with interest over the city.

Mr. Jackson is a well known business man and has been a resident of the city for a number of years during which time he has been active in civic affairs and has watched with interest the growth and development of the city. He plans an active campaign and will canvas the voters to lay his candidacy and platform before them.

Mr. Jackson believes that as a good business policy the people should own their public utilities and is seeking election as Alderman in the City Government in hope that he may serve in co-operation with the Mayor to bring about ownership of the utilities. Mr. Jackson realizes that it would be impractical at this time to undertake an entire program of utility ownership, but is advocating purchase by the city of the Water Company. He has much encouragement on this part of his platform for the public welfare and believes the people of Cameron are fully conversant with the need for conserving the financial strength of the community by diverting funds into public revenue that are now going to private corporations owning the utilities.

In addition Mr. Jackson advocates the strictest economy in administering the government but does not believe its service should be curtailed because the people are paying for service and should receive it. A general reduction of Taxes and savings wherever possible will be sought by Mr. Jackson if elected.

He submits his candidacy to the people based upon his platform for greater benefits from the city government and will greatly appreciate anything his friends may do for him. Due to the limited time he will not be able to make as extensive canvas as he would like and takes this means of announcing to one and all his appeal for votes and support.

Entertainment For Commercial Club

The following young people will take part: Ida Byrd Mayfield, Goldie Burke, Elzy Hatch, James Markham, Vernon Mayfield, Laura Joe Ashery, Berenice McLerran and Billie Clark.

Smilin' Charlie Says

"Timidity is quite often as great a protection as morality as is audacity!"

The Sales Tax

Under the Sales Tax as recommended to the Legislature by both Gov. Sterling and Gov. Ferguson, the taxes will be paid by the consumer, the man who buys; and the man who does not consume or buy pays no state taxes.

The money collected from the Sales Tax will be used exclusively for state purposes, and no taxes will be levied against property for the state, but taxes will continue to be levied against property for the counties and the cities as it is at this time.

The state has been expending about 100 million dollars a year, including 40 million dollars for the Highway Commission and 40 million dollars for schools and colleges. The school tax in addition to the taxes levied by the counties and cities for school purposes.

This has bankrupted the Texas people, and everyone sighs to get from under the crushing burden. The property of the Oil and Public Utility Companies runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars; and this property is now being taxed for state purposes. It will not be taxed for state purposes under the Sales Tax plan, which was doubtless inspired by these Oil and Utility Companies. They do not want their property taxed for the expenses of the State Government. The owners live in the Eastern States, and do not buy their groceries, clothing, or other articles of merchandise in Texas and they will pay no Sales Tax.

The millionaires and large property holders of Texas under the Sales Tax plan will pay no state taxes on their property. They will pay the same as the penniless laborer—3 per cent on the merchandise they buy.

Reduced to the last analysis, the property of the Oil and Public Utility Companies, the millionaires, and large property holders will not be taxed to pay for any expenses of the state government. The exemption of all this property from taxes for the use of the state will raise the taxes on another class. This no one will deny. This class embraces the great mass of men and women of Texas, those of moderate means and those of no means. This will reduce this class upon which the Sales Tax falls to a state of poverty equal to that of India.

Gov. Sterling and Gov. Ferguson both refer to the Sales Tax of Mississippi. That state has crushed her people with a mountain of taxes to maintain her Highway Commission; and the Oil and Public Utility Companies induced the Mississippi Legislature to change her taxing system from a property tax to a Sales Tax, and these Companies are now doing business in Mississippi with their property practically exempt from taxation.

Taxation is the most important department of our government and it should not be changed except at the will and by the consent of the Texas people. To do so will in the words of Bryan be an embezzlement of power.

The Sales Tax was not included in either the Democratic or the Republican platforms; and no intimation was made of it in the last campaign by either Gov. Sterling or Gov. Ferguson. They both seemed to hold to the old philosophy of Sir John Falstaff that "Discretion is the better part of valor." Gov. Sterling and Gov. Ferguson now seem to be in perfect accord on all state issues. No member of the Senate or the Lower House mentioned the Sales Tax in the last campaign; and after the election is over and the people have no voice, it will be bad faith to pass the Sales Tax bill against their will and wishes.

We who have followed the flag of the Fergusons and have fought their battles for the last eighteen years were disappointed in the message of Gov. Ferguson recommending the Sales Tax. We did not expect it of the Fergusons. There is a marked difference in the tone and substance of this message from the speeches made by Gov. Jas. E. Ferguson in the campaign last year.

We are candid to say, that we have great fear that the Sales Tax bill will pass. The Oil and Public Utilities favor the Sales Tax. The influence of the Fergusons are for it. This combination, strange and unexpected, is of great weight and influence, and with the pressure brought to bear by the great lobby now at Austin, it will be hard to overcome.

The great mass of the Texas people have no one to represent them. Our only hope is in the Senate and Lower House; and it is to the members of these two bodies that we appeal. Please vote against the Sales Tax bill. If you do, you will forever have the gratitude of a grateful people.

Gov. Ferguson requests suggestions of a better plan than the Sales Tax. An income tax will doubtless be opposed by the Oil and Public Utility Companies, but it will be more equitable and less oppressive to the people of Texas. It will require the Oil and Public Utility Companies and the large property holders to pay according to the net profit they receive. If they make no profits, they will pay no taxes. If they make little profits, they will pay little taxes. If they make big profits, they will pay big taxes. It will not crush the man of moderate means or the man of no means.

GROWING PAINS

By DR. WILLIAM J. SCHOLLES

A long time ago when little Johnny complained of pains in his joints and muscles, somebody thought that they had figured out the reason. Johnny had those pains because he was growing! Perhaps it seemed logical to conclude that because the pains were somewhat vague, and occurred during childhood, the period of growth, they must in some way be intimately associated with growth. What happened to Johnny after his complaint had been thus duly labeled—and neglected—may have been about as follows:

After he had had his so called growing pains for a while, he probably came down with an acute attack of rheumatism. The rheumatism may have followed an attack of sore throat. For Johnny had often had attacks of tonsillitis. During the attack of rheumatism Johnny's heart probably gave quite a lot of trouble, for rheumatism in children very frequently attacks the heart.

Heart May Be Damaged

But even though Johnny had a bad attack of rheumatism and was sick in bed for quite a while, he finally got well enough to be up and around. In the course of time he seemed to be about as well as ever. But was he? There is a possibility that he went through life handicapped to some extent by a damaged heart. With reasonable care he was probably able to carry on in a fairly satisfactory manner. But his damaged heart probably placed more or less restriction upon the amount of his activity.

Everything that has been said about Johnny may as well apply to his sister. She is more likely to have had St. Vitus dance or chorea, as this disease is two or three times as frequent in girls as in boys.

But what has all this to do with growing pains? Just this. So called growing pains often indicate the presence of the kind of infection that causes rheumatism. And rheumatism in children is very likely to attack the heart. Growing pains, diseased tonsils, rheumatism, heart disease and St. Vitus' dance often seems to be closely related.

One way in which to prevent heart disease in children is by having a careful search made for the cause of so called "growing pains." Bank 293 acres D. Mumford survey. Con. $20, 461.00.

"I want my telephone put back, please"

HARDLY a day passes but that some person who gave up his telephone service in recent months orders it restored. In many cases, people feel that it is false economy to be without a telephone . . . that the small cost of the service is repaid many times each month in convenience, in time and actually in money saved.

Some miss the close and personal contact with friends that telephone service makes possible. Others mention the loss of many pleasant, impromptu social "get-togethers" when their friends are unable to reach them by telephone.

It is all true . . . what these customer friends of ours say. Telephone service costs so little and its value is so great that in most instances it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

If you are missing your telephone . . . just get in touch with our business office. We'll send a man out with a telephone in a hurry.

Science has allied itself on the side of the record breakers, and is teaching what foods will guard and promote health. One of its most recent findings is that canned pineapple, eaten daily, contains more known health value than any other fruit.

Axe Murder

he had revealed the murder, Booker forsook his denial through hours of questioning and made his statement confessing guilt.

Tells How He Killed Smith.

Robbery was the motive of the crime. Booker had been influenced, he said, to commit murder, by a jar of coins on the shelf of the grocery, placed there by Mr. Smith who it is said took in small amounts on shoe repairs and through a hobby filled the jar before emptying. Booker thought the jar contained much money, but in reality contained $3.02.

Booker had been a customer of the store. He said that he had nothing against Mr. Smith. He wanted money and was willing to kill to get it. At one time he said he had owed a small account of $1 at the store and that Mr. Smith had stopped him in the street near the store as he sat on a truck load of wood and told him he must pay the account. This was done and Booker said there was nothing in this occurrence to make him hold resentment against Smith.

Arrested at Home.

Booker was arrested at home in the presence of his wife. He offered no resistance and accompanied the officers willingly. He was driven to the court house by the officers. The car was never stopped but the passing motor revealed to Sheriff Blaylock his man had been arrested. The car sped away and the Sheriff went into action to arrest witnesses.

According to officers the negro showed no signs of fear and resisted all efforts to obtain the truth from him for 9 hours in the McLennan county jail, but finally, with calm voice, announced that he wanted to "tell the truth." A statement covering all details of the crime and the motive was made and is now securely locked in the offices of Criminal District Attorney Simeon M. Birns.

Sheriff Got Tip.

Sheriff Blaylock, veteran man hunter and detective, has solved one of the most baffling crimes in the history of the county. According to his story, he first received definite information at 11 p. m. Saturday night that pointed to Booker as the guilty man. He worked alone. He wanted to be certain nothing happened to forestall arrest of the guilty negro. He had worked for weeks. After he had established beyond question Booker was the man, he held a secret conference with his trusted deputy Will Vaughn and they laid plans for the arrests which due to his knowledge of facts, could await daylight.

Crime Premeditated.

The murder was premeditated. Booker reasoned that he could not obtain the coins without first disposing of the store owner. Accordingly he laid his plans, all the time cherishing a desire for possession of the jar of bright coins he had seen from time to time on the shelf of the grocery. Some days before he took a hand axe from his father's home. The axe was carried to a pool hall where it was allowed to remain for some time. On the night of the murder he took the axe and set out for the store. He was careful to conceal his movements, he said, because he wanted to be certain he would not be seen about the place. The night was cold and a heavy mist shut out the light of the street lamps and he stood about the entrance of the grocery, making sure Mr. Smith was alone.

Enters the Store.

Having been a customer at the store and knowing Mr. Smith, the store owner did not suspect him as he came in after 7 p. m. to make a purchase. It was cold and he had worn an overcoat. The axe blade was thrust into the right hand pocket of the coat. The handle of the axe was hidden by his right arm as he pressed it against his body. He spoke to Mr. Smith and stood about a few minutes and then purchased a nickel's worth of candy. After the purchase he stood about eating the candy, all the while carefully hiding the axe. The jar of coins was in its accustomed place on the shelf.

Tells How Smith Was Killed.

Mr. Smith was reading an afternoon edition of a Waco newspaper, said Booker. The paper was spread on the counter. Mr. Smith stood behind the counter, facing the negro. He gave the negro the candy and with his glasses on leaned on his elbows upon the counter with head bowed over the print reading the paper. This went on for a few moments and an occasional word was passed. At the opportune time Booker drew the axe from his pocket and worked himself to a vantage point. He confessed he had dealt a heavy blow for the first one. Wounds on the head of Mr. Smith showed that he had been struck with the ball of the hatchet in the back of the head. Booker raised the axe and struck the grocer on the left side of the head at the rear. The blow caused Mr. Smith to fall forward and down flat on the counter and newspaper. Another and second blow was then struck by the negro on the right side of the head at the back. Smith then fell to the floor on his back behind the counter.

Four More Blows Struck.

After Smith had fallen the negro leaped to the counter and lay his body across and in the dim light of the store hacked his face four times with the blade of the axe. When he had struck the last blow he got off the counter and walked around the stove, finally throwing the hatchet down and it fell partly under the stove where it was found by officers. He then walked behind the counter where Smith lay and took the jar of coins and poured them into his hand then into his pocket. He thought Smith had been killed. He turned off the lights and went out.

Stays in Cameron.

He went to his home from the grocery but did not sleep he said. Next morning he was up early. He counted the money and was surprised to find that he had only $3.02. His wife left the house, not knowing of her husband's guilt. He stayed about the place for a while and then went to the Safeway grocery where he bought some groceries. Later in the day he again returned to the store and spent the remainder of the money for groceries. It was at the store that morning that he heard the first talk of the murder he had committed. He said that he was surprised that Smith had just died as he thought he had killed him the night before.

Smith Attacked at 7 P. M.

Booker in his confession said that it was about 7 p. m. on the night of Wednesday, December 21 that he went to the Smith grocery and there attacked and killed him. That time had been previously fixed by officers as the approximate hour of the murder. Smith lay mortally wounded behind the counter until about 7 o'clock the following morning, Thursday, December 22. He was found in a dying condition by customers who went to the store for purchases. He died shortly after reaching the hospital in an ambulance. According to nurses and physicians six wounds were found on his head and face.

Negro Stays in Cameron.

Booker in his statement says he remained in Cameron. But for his failure to destroy the axe and keep his own counsel, the crime might have become an unsolved mystery according to Sheriff Blaylock. Booker had been employed from time to time by the Milam County Emergency Relief Corporation. He was well known here, having been reared in the city.

When dining out the meal is usually tapered off with a cut of pie... it's the natural thing to do. Besides, 10 cents is not big money to satisfy a sweet tooth—unless you have stopped to reckon with the purchasing power of a penny.

For this same dime you spend for cherry pie, you can cook 10 good dinners with natural gas; or heat enough water for 20 baths; or operate a gas refrigerator for more than three days. By simple comparisons you will agree that natural gas service is the cheapest thing you buy or use.

Hints for the Household

HOUSE HOLD HINTS

To Keep Coffee Hot and Save Extra Work.

In the homes where there are late sleepers it is a nuisance to keep old coffee, or make new coffee after one's breakfast is finished. This can be avoided by pouring the left over coffee into a Thermos bottle. Leave bottle on table and the tardy member may help himself.

BAKING HINTS

To Cream Cake Easily.

Add a tablespoon of boiling water to butter and sugar to be creamed. This lessens the work and makes the mixture very creamy and moist.

Chocolate Cream Icing

Melt unsweetened chocolate over boiling water. Make a white frosting by cooking together 1 1-2 cups of sugar and 1-2 cup of milk. Cook it until it forms a soft ball in cold water.

Remove from the fire and beat until creamy—add a little vanilla. Spread immediately on cake. Coat this white frosting with melted chocolate.

COOKING HINTS

Valentine Chops

Buy French lamb chops. Buy white paper frills and small red cardboard hearts. Paste hearts to paper frills.

Broil lamb chops. Place frills on end of each chop.

Then pile small peas in center of platter. Place same number of pieces of ham chops on platter around buttered peas. Cut ham in heart shape. Place each chop on a heart. When served this makes a very pretty dish.

Washington Pie

1-4 cup of butter or butter substitute.

1 egg.

1-2 cup of sugar.

1-2 cup of water.

1 1-2 cups of flour.

2 1-2 teaspoons of baking powder. Method: Beat sugar and egg together. Add melted shortening and water. Beat well. Fold in the sifted dry ingredients. Bake in buttered tin in a moderate oven.

When cool split and fill with cream filling.

Filling

1 cup of sugar.

4 1-2 tablespoons corn starch.

Little salt.

2 cups milk.

2 eggs.

Vanilla.

Method: Heat milk luke warm. Mix corn starch with a little water. Beat eggs slightly. Mix corn starch and egg together. Add this slowly to milk and stir constantly until it thickens. Add sugar and flavoring. Mix well and spread between cake layers. Serve with whipped cream.

Ham Smothered in Sweet Potatoes. Large slice ham. 3 cups of sliced, cooked sweet potatoes.

2 tablespoons brown sugar. 1 cup of hot water. 1 tablespoon of melted butter.

Method: Cut ham in pieces for serving. Cook slightly on each side. Cover ham with sweet potatoes. Heat sugar, water and butter together. Pour over ham and potatoes. Bake one hour.

Creamer Shrimps and Mushrooms. White sauce. Shrimps. Mushrooms.

Method: Clean and prepare the shrimps. Clean and prepare mushrooms. Make a white sauce using as proportions 1 heaping tablespoon of butter, 1 heaping tablespoon of flour, 1 pint (2 cups of milk). Seasoning. Melt butter, add flour and seasoning. Mix well.

Add the milk slowly and stir constantly until it thickens. Then add shrimps and mushrooms. By making this in a double boiler this can be made ahead of time and kept warm in the double boiler. Canned shrimps and mushrooms can be used. Serve in heart shaped cases.

even been used to cut kindling for the stove at the hall. On the night of the murder Booker picked it up secretly and started for the store. In his mind was the glass jar of silver coins and what appeared to be a goodly sum of money. In reality he got only $3.02.

He stood outside. It was around 7 p. m., a cold night with low hanging mist shrouding the negro section. Inside a light shone. He made sure the grocer was alone, knocked and was admitted. After the murder the axe was thrown under the stove and was there found by the officers, and later identified. Booker had made his mistake number 1. After he threw the axe down he stepped behind the counter, emptied the jar of silver into his left palm and poured the coins into his overcoat pocket, turned off the light and went out. He returned home and stayed with his wife that night, but said he did not sleep. He counted the coins the next morning and found that he had murdered for only $3.02.

Weeks later he confided to a friend that he had committed the murder. That was fatal mistake No. 2, and events followed swiftly. The boy friend became frightened and told his parents because he feared he would be killed by Booker because he possessed the secret of the crime. Sheriff Blaylock got the tip and moved fast. That was Saturday night, February 4. Blaylock told his trusted deputy, Will Vaughn and they laid plans carefully. At 11 p. m. Sunday Booker had been arrested and all co-operating witnesses had been detained. The crime was solved. That day after 9 hours of resistance Booker made a confession.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Cox, Mrs. John A. Smith and Mrs. Dorothy Brunsard spent Sunday in Kemper guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Criswell at Buckholts.

I keep it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order."

Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for children.

Roosevelt and James Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in circle at right, registered no uncertain pleasure as they heard the news of their party's landslide on election night. Photos were made in the Democratic headquarters, Hotel Biltmore, New York.

"FATTY" RETURNS: Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, famous comedian of the silent films returns to the screen and shows his old time prowess as a comic in "Hey, Pop!" Here he is rewarding Billy Hayes with an extra large helping of Jell-O for the fine acting this young star displayed in the same picture.

HOLLYWOOD is whispering that Paulette Goddard may become Mrs. Charles Chaplin... but she isn't saying a thing.

SOME FOLKS sure get the breaks... Lanny Ross, left, for instance! As the tenor star of Captain Henry's Show Boat program he actually gets paid for making love to Audrey Marsh, pretty soprano. This radio feature, with a cast of 54 entertainers, is heard at 9 o'clock (EST) every Thursday night.

BRITISH BOMBERS seem to have this situation "well in hand" as one of the 2,000 members of the advance guard of British hunger marchers attempted a demonstration and riot in Hyde Park, London, recently. Several hundred rioters were injured and many more arrested.

TROOP NO. 52.

J. A. Lindle, Scoutmaster.

Troop No. 52 held its regular meeting Friday night with an attendance of 21 registered scouts, two leaders, two troop committeemen and 12 visitors, a total of 34.

The feature of the evening was the knot board contest. The Troop opened the meeting with the singing of the good old hike song. Boles Matocha, Jr. and Anton Hanel became members of our troop. We are glad to have them and feel that they will take an interest in scouting and some day become Eagle Scouts.

An interesting talk was made by A. G. Kuna who told the troop of a splendid project he has in mind. Another talk was made by August Moraw. After these talks the troop was entertained by a number of harmonica selections by Scout Paul, Rudolph Michalka and George Matocha.

The Fox Patrol and the X Patrol again participated in the games. The Foxes again had the lead on the X's by a score of 534 to 234. Come on you X's, there is only a little more than 30 days left in the contest. The two contest knotboards were both so good that the Troop Committee thought it advisable to have them judged by outside parties. So we will not know the result of the knot boards for a few days.

In keeping with the annual custom of the Boy Scouts of America as part of the celebration of Anniversary Week, Troop 52 has placed an exhibit in the show window of Schiller's Pharmacy, and we invite our friends to drop around and view the display.
